Portfolios are...
A collection of artifacts that showcase a person's knowledge, skills, and capacities to a public audience.

SOCIAL WORK AT U-M

• Social work is a profession for those with a strong desire to work towards maximizing human potential and well being

• Your method (IP, CO, MHS OR SP&E) and practice area (Aging, Children & Youth, Health, Mental Health, or Communities and Social Systems) selections determine which field placement will be available to you

• For those in Interpersonal Practice: Remember: “Clinical” work is defined in many ways is not just 1:1 work in an office “doing therapy”!

• You will work with many of the following groups during your time in the program:
  – Individuals
  – Groups
  – Families
  – Communities
  – Social Systems
An Introduction to the Skill of Self-reflection:

Field instruction requires that you integrate what you are learning with what you are doing. Here is our learning rubric:

WHAT??
What did I learn?

SO WHAT??
Why was what I learned important?

NOW WHAT??
What am I going to do with what I learned?
FIELD INSTRUCTION: NUTS & BOLTS

• Field instruction courses are a part of the requirements for the Master of Social Work (MSW) degree, required by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE)

• You will log a total of 912 clock hours in field (684 hours if Advanced Standing status) which is 25% of your total social work curriculum = 15 out of 60 credits

• You will have an opportunity to find your niche by focusing on developing: KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, & ABILITIES

• You will work 1:1 with an on-site field instructor who will provide supervision, feedback, mentoring and evaluation

• You will learn to:

  PREPARE → EXPERIENCE → REFLECT → PREPARE AGAIN
HOW OPEN ARE YOU TO BECOMING A PROFESSIONAL?

• Reflect on HOW...
  – Are you going to incorporate your values and ethics with those of the SW profession? (Remember, the NASW Code of Ethics is your guide)
  – Will you engage in supervision?
  – Open are you to critical and constructive feedback?

• Where do you come from? How do your experiences and goals match up with field training opportunities? Where are your career aspirations?

• What will be your legacy upon graduation?
COMPETENCY BASED FIELD CURRICULUM

- You will participate in a competency-based COMPETITIVE Interview
  - what do you know how to do now?
  - what do you need to learn?
  - what do you need to un-learn?
  - what do you know about yourself?

- GOAL: integrate your academic learning with your field experience

- The Educational Agreement: creating a developmentally focused learning contract with behaviorally specific assignments that focus on skill development

- Evaluation and Feedback: supervision, field grades, field seminar, portfolios = BECOMING A PROFICIENT SOCIAL WORKER!
THE START OF YOUR PROFESSIONAL JOURNEY

• Development of your ‘Professional Identity’ starts with your Goal Statement:

  – The purpose is to determine if what you want to learn is a “match” with what the agency has to offer

  – Is used much like a cover letter for employment and allows potential field instructors to view a “snapshot” of your self-assessed knowledge, skills, and abilities

  – Write in a narrative format---it functions as a writing sample

  – Do not include personal/private information. This is a public document and is shared electronically with your field instructor as well as many of your potential colleagues
HOW DO YOU SPELL SUCCESS?

• Attend the on-line OFI/Career Center Webinars (4/14/15@3:30 and 4/22/15@5:00)

• Do your homework about placement options (see OFI web site), meet deadlines and be open to learning something new. Some special programs/scholarships including national and global placements require that you complete your local/domestic placement Fall and Winter term so you are free to travel in the Spring-Summer term.

• Do not focus on where you will learn or with whom you will learn—focus on what you will learn!

• This is a large program (700 students) and we have to strike a balance between meeting your interests and the agency’s needs. The agency ultimately decides if you are a good “fit”

• Dress professionally and remember, transportation to and from your field placement is your responsibility—be prepared to drive!
