

W.K. Kellogg Family Endowed Fellowship

I. Purpose and Eligibility

This note announces an award available to new and continuing students in the Joint Interdisciplinary Doctoral Program. It was established by the W.K. Kellogg foundation along with matching funds provided by the Ann and Robert Lurie Family Foundation and carries a value of $12,666 per award. Recipients will be known as W.K. Kellogg Family Fellows in Children and Families. Three awards will be made. To be eligible for the award, a student must be in good academic standing. It is awarded to students with a research interest in advancing the understanding of issues relevant to improving the well-being of children, youth, and their families. Students receiving the Kellogg Award may also receive the Meyer Award, but not the Curtis Scholarship in the same year. You must be in good standing to apply for this award.

II. Form of Support

For 2020-2021, a $12,666 award will each be made to three Doctoral students in the form of stipend support.

III. Application Materials

The following application materials are required:

1. Application coversheet
2. One page letter describing the nature and focus of your interests on children and families and how you plan to contribute to the advancement of these areas in the future
3. Letter of support from a faculty member
4. Curricula Vitae

IV. Review Process

The Doctoral Committee will evaluate the application materials. The criterion they will use is the extent to which the students' past work, current Doctoral studies, research plans on future career goals are likely to contribute to the advancement of the study of children and families.

It is anticipated that the review and decision-making will occur at the beginning of November.
