Postdoctoral Job Announcement

Postdoctoral position available in the ProgressLab at the University of Michigan, to assist on a mixed methods study about abortion attitudes in the U.S. Applicants should have a PhD in psychology, sociology, education, women’s studies, or a related field. Applicants must be fluent Spanish and English speakers; experience with translation is also preferred. Must have experience conducting in-person interviews. Previous experience in in qualitative, survey, and mixed methods data analysis highly desired. Strong writing skills and background in feminist approaches to women’s health is also desired.

Responsibilities will include oversight of mixed methods study, measures assessment, coding, interviewing, cognitive debriefing, transcription, translation, analysis of survey and interview data, as well as development of manuscripts with a multi-disciplinary team of researchers studying abortion attitudes.

The appointment is 1 year; anticipated start date May 1, 2018. Person may live anywhere for the duration of the project and must be able to travel for short periods of time (6-9 days) from June through September, 2018. Salary $60,000, plus benefits.

Please send CV, cover letter, writing sample, and contact information for three references to Sara McClelland (saramcc@umich.edu) by March 15, 2018. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

For more information, please contact Sara McClelland: saramcc@umich.edu. Lab website: www.progresslab.info.

Please forward widely as appropriate.