Harris-Stowe State University, Department of Social Sciences invites applications for the tenure-track faculty position of Assistant Professor of Psychology, beginning Fall 2021. The successful candidate must have an earned Ph.D. in Psychology with a focus on Social, Health, or Consumer Psychology, no later than at the time of appointment.

Candidates must be able to teach undergraduate courses in their area of specialization, and program core courses, including introductory psychology, research writing, research methods, and statistics. The position requires teaching four courses in the Fall and Spring semesters, conducting original research published in scholarly journals, and providing service to the College, community, and profession. Candidates will also be expected to participate in student recruitment and retention, and program assessment.

Employment will require successful completion of background check(s) in accordance with University policies. Harris-Stowe State University is committed to affirmative action, equal opportunity, and the diversity of its workforce. Application materials include letter of application establishing qualifications for the position; a current vita; statement of teaching philosophy with evidence of teaching effectiveness; statement of research interests; three letters of recommendation, and transcripts (official transcripts required at the time of an interview).

Physical Requirements:

Ability to lift materials less than ten pounds.

Working Conditions and Environment:

Office space will be provided in the Henry Givens Administration Building with all necessary equipment (computers, printers) to work in a professional environment in a cubicle setting with colleagues to promote collaboration and fellowship.