Description

The Smith College School for Social Work invites applications for one full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor Position.

Qualifications:

Candidates for this position will be able to contribute to teaching and administration in one of the following areas: 1) Child and Adolescent Development, 2) Addiction or 3) Immigration, Ethnicity, or Culture. Candidates will have a strong theoretical grounding and application to clinical social work practice. We seek candidates with a well-defined program of research in one of the three content areas of focus and who show promise for developing an innovative program of research and can advance our mission of excellence in clinical social work education. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to antiracism and anti-oppressive practice.

A master's degree from an accredited school of social work and doctoral degree in social work or a closely related field are required. The doctoral degree will be completed prior to the start of the appointment. Candidates at the junior faculty level should have a minimum of five years post-master’s clinical practice experience, ideally with supervisory or leadership experience. Rank and salary will be commensurate with expertise and experience. Appointments will begin July 2019.

The School for Social Work

Smith College School for Social Work faculty have expertise in relationally-based, culturally responsive practice that is firmly grounded in a synthesis of psychological and social theories and a commitment to antiracism and anti-oppressive practice. The curriculum is designed to educate students for the provision of effective clinical social work services with diverse communities in agency settings as well as with vulnerable and underserved populations. The program is known for its intensive field internships based across the United States and offers both an M.S.W. and PhD. The Smith SSW places a strong emphasis on both scholarship and teaching in considerations for tenure and promotion. The School’s explicit commitment to becoming an anti-racism institution infuses all aspects of its programs; faculty members are expected to actively contribute to this commitment in all aspects of their work. Smith College is part of a five college consortium centrally located in the Northeast corridor between Boston and New York in an academically engaged and demographically diverse area.
