Full Time Tenure-Track Faculty

Morgan State University invites applications for full time tenure-track faculty position in the School of Social Work. The expected start date is August 2020.

We seek a candidate who has a strong desire to contribute to a thriving social work program at one of the nations largest Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU). The program offers the BSW, MSW, Online Masters of Social Work and the PhD degrees and currently has over 600 students. Both the BSW and MSW Programs are fully accredited by CSWE. The Master’s program has a three-year-old online program. Morgan’s BSW Program is 45 years old but the graduate programs began in 2005/6. The overall mission of Morgan’s School of Social Work is to prepare urban practitioners and leaders, policy experts, knowledge producers, scholars and social work educators who are committed to solving urban issues and problems and improving the quality of life for urban communities. Special focus is on urban children, youth and families, school social work, gerontology and public health social work within a social and economic justice framework.

Founded in 1867, and located in Baltimore, Maryland, Morgan State University has been designated by the state as Maryland’s Pre-eminent Public Urban Research University with an R2 Carnegie classification and is one of the nation’s oldest HBCU’s. Morgan’s mission is to serve a multiethnic and multiracial student body and to help ensure that the benefits of higher education are enjoyed by a broad segment of the population. The university offers a comprehensive range of academic programs including 32 masters degree and 16 doctoral programs, e.g. masters and doctorate in education, public health, masters and doctorate in nursing, doctorates in psychometrics, business, engineering, and history, along with 10 online degree programs including the online MSW degree.

Requirements
The position involves research, teaching, advising, and related service. The Candidate must have a doctorate in social work or a related field and a master’s degree in social work. A demonstrated commitment to social work practice in urban environments as demonstrated through teaching, publications, research and/or practice is necessary. Preference will be given to applicants with: online teaching experience; potential for high scholarly productivity; a record of involvement in funded research; expertise in clinical or macro practice and substance abuse; teaching experience post-PhD; a demonstrated ability to collaborate across disciplines with community partners; and practice experience in one or more of the following areas of specialized social work practice addictions, gerontology, public health, urban children youth and families, or school social work

The Faculty Search Committee will begin reviewing applications and nominations immediately and will continue until the positions are filled. Applicants should send a letter of interest, a complete curriculum vitae, and names of three references with contact information to:
