Faculty Search: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor Position

The University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa Myron B. Thompson School of Social Work, Department of Social Work invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin August 2019.

The mission of the Department of Social Work is to provide educational excellence that advances social work with its focus on social justice. The principal responsibility is the generation, transmission, and application of knowledge for the global enterprise with special attention to Native Hawaiian, other Pacific Islander, and Asian populations in our state and region. We offer three programs (BSW, MSW, PhD) articulating undergraduate and graduate education that prepare students to be educated global citizens who advance social justice. With Hawai‘i being one of the most racially/ethnically diverse states in the United States, our unique focus is on resolving problems and building resiliency in a culturally diverse world. We are seeking applicants who will carry out our mission and share our commitment to social justice.

Position Expectations
- Teach at graduate and undergraduate levels
- Conduct research and scholarly activity with relevance to Hawai‘i and/or the Asia-Pacific region
- Seek extramural funding and publish in peer-reviewed journals
- Serve as academic advisor to students, supervise independent study research activities, and participate on committees in charge of candidates for advanced degrees
- Render service to the profession and community relevant to academic/research specialty
- Serve on Department, School, and University committees
- Participate in curriculum development and utilize technology innovations in program curricular activities

Minimum Qualifications
- Doctorate from a college or university of recognized standing in social work or related field
- Demonstrated ability as a teacher
- Demonstrated scholarly achievements
- Poise and good address for meeting and conferring with others

Desirable Qualifications
- MSW degree from a CSWE-accredited college or university
- Two years post-MSW practice experience
- Scholarly work focused on health, mental health, or other issues that contribute to the mission of the department to create and disseminate new knowledge to increase social justice for the global enterprise with special attention to Native Hawaiian, other Pacific Islander, and/or Asian populations
- Strong commitment to, knowledge of, and/or experience with the University of Hawai‘i’s mission and purpose of positioning the university as a leading indigenous-serving higher education institution
- Successful record in, or demonstrated potential for, securing extramural funding
- Demonstrated ability to use instructional technology in teaching

To Apply: Send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, the names and phone numbers of three references, and one published article or other writing sample to: sswjobs@hawaii.edu. Electronic submission only. Inquiries: Jill Sur, Faculty Recruitment Committee Chair, sur@hawaii.edu. Online job posting: http://bit.ly/hawaii-socialwork-2018

About the University: Founded in 1907, the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa has students and faculty come from across the nation and the world to take advantage of its unique research opportunities, diverse community, and beautiful landscape. UH Mānoa is classified by the Carnegie Foundation as an R1 research institution and also holds the status as a land, sea and space-grant institution. Consistently ranked a “best value” among U.S. colleges and universities, our students have a unique multicultural global experience in a Hawaiian place of learning—truly like no place else on earth.

The University of Hawai‘i is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution and is committed to a policy of nondiscrimination on the basis of race, sex, gender identity and expression, age, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, disability, genetic information, marital status, breastfeeding, income assignment for child support, arrest and court record (except as permissible under State law), sexual orientation, domestic or sexual violence victim status, national guard absence, or status as a covered veteran.