

Explore Social Work as a Human Services Major

Earn your BA in Human Services from U-M Dearborn and your MSW from the #1 school of social work at U-M Ann Arbor. The University of Michigan School of Social Work and the University of Michigan Dearborn College of Education, Health & Human Services have partnered to create an opportunity for undergraduate Human Services students to enter the MSW program.

Why Human Services and Social Work?

- You will develop an understanding of diversity, research, discrimination, oppression and the skills to advocate for social and economic justice.
- To promote social justice through direct service and advocacy on the local, national and global levels.
- You have an interest in helping individuals, families and communities function effectively and overcome considerable obstacles and challenges.
- 96% of U-M MSW graduates looking for jobs are employed.
